CONTINUING EDUCATION

CERTIFIED MEASUREMENT AND VERIFICATION PROFESSIONAL

The Association of Energy Engineers (AEE), in co-operation with the Efficiency Valuation Organisation (EVO) formerly known as the International Performance Measurement and Verification Protocol (IPMVP), has established the Certified Measurement and Verification Professional (CMVP) program with the dual purpose of recognising the most qualified professionals in this growing area of the energy industry, and raising the overall professional standards within the measurement and verification field. The EVOs mission is to develop and promote the use of standardised protocols, methods and tools to quantify and manage the performance risks and benefits associated with end-use energy efficiency, renewable energy, and water efficiency business transactions.

WEBSTORE

SABS ON-LINE STANDARDS

South African national standards are now downloadable from the SABS's Webstore from a fully secure site on entry of a credit card number. Additional benefits offered by this store are links to similar and related standards, as well as to other standards bought by users who bought a specific standard, so you enter a standards network by accessing the Webstore. Future enhancements will include, among other features, a free updating service whereby you will be able to request information on updates to standards you purchase. To access the Webstore go to: http://www.sabs.co.za/Business_Units/Standards_SA/WebStore/WebStoreHome.aspx. First time users must remember to register in order to obtain a password.
